The Carpathian Run

RAE ELLISON

Her first novel with Fenn & Fable

Before he came by sea, he tried to come by rail.

1874. Harriet Murray is a civil engineer nobody will hire, so she takes the job nobody else will touch. A railway over the Carpathians, through a valley the villagers will not enter.

A hundred and fifty years later a motorway tunnel breaks into a pass sealed since her day, and engineer Billie Cross finds Harriet waiting. And a missing tunneller is standing outside the cabin, asking to come in.
